

Questionable Times

no.100.093

“The unseen is now seen”

- Since 1802

Balloons Take Child to Heaven

6 year old boy Pascal last name unknown was taken away by balloons after death of his old balloon.

One day in Paris Pascal finds a balloon in a lamppost and keeps it later on when his mother throws it out of their apartment they figure out that the balloon was sentient and was able to control the way it moved. Pascal had a new friend but not everyone agreed to this.

Some other boys then balloon napped the red balloon and practiced target training with the balloon trying to get rid of the evil spirit with in.

When one of the boys hits the balloon, the balloon has a dramatic ending and after the balloons death the boys leave and balloons all other balloons from france come to the balloon murder spot. They see pascal and surround him a while after the balloons lift him he seemed happy about it because he thought they were there to cheer him up and help him feel better, but the balloons carried him away and nobody has seen Pascal again. People believe the balloons sended him directly to Our creator for Justice.

